This Day the Lord Mayor and Court of Aldermen of the City of London attended their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales, to congratulate them upon the safe Delivery of her Royal Highness of another Princess; when being introduced by his Grace the Duke of Queensberry, Lord of the Bedchamber in Waiting, Sir John Strange Kt. their Recorder, made their Compliments in the following Manner.

To the Prince of Wales.

May it please your Royal Highness,

THE Lord Mayor and Court of Aldermen of the City of London, most humbly present themselves before you, to congratulate your Royal Highness upon the safe Delivery of your illustrious Consort, and the Birth of another Princess: They consider every Addition to his Majesty's Family as an Increase of their own Happiness, and as a further Security that the Sceptre shall not depart from his Royal House; an Event we are all so highly concerned to guard against.

It is with infinite Pleasure the Nation beholds your Royal Highness possessed of a most amiable Princess, mutually happy in each other, and both exhibiting that beautiful Example of conjugal and parental Affection, for which your Royal Highnesses are most justly admired: The happy Influence this has, and must continue to have, naturally excites our Gratitude, and, joined to numberless other high Qualifications, leaves no Room to doubt, but that your Royal Highnesses were particularly design'd by Providence, to continue to us the many Blessings of his Majesty's Reign.

No Part of the City of London can at any Time approach your Royal Highness without ag-

acknowledging the great Honour they receive by your condescending to continue a Member of their Body, and shewing your kind Regard to them upon all Occasions: The best Return they can make is to assure your Royal Highness, with the utmost Sincerity, that nothing shall exceed the Fervency of their Wishes for your Welfare and Prosperity, nor their steady Adherence to the Interests of his Majesty, and every Branch of his illustrious House.

To the Princess of Wales.

May it please your Royal Highness,

THE Lord Mayor and Court of Aldermen of the City of London, most humbly address themselves to your Royal Highness, with their sincere Congratulations upon your safe Delivery of another Princess, and the Re-establishment of your Health. These they contemplate as national Blessings, in which Light also they have never failed to consider his Royal Highness's Marriage into your illustrious House; a Marriage, which then promised, and hath since given the highest Pleasure and Satisfaction to his Majesty's Subjects, and will be always remembred by them with the utmost Gratitude.

Your known Tenderness Affection and Care for the Royal Consort you are blessed with, and for those inestimable Pledges of our future Security, which the Goodness of God to us has already bestowed upon you, will for ever excite our most dutiful Acknowledgments, and our earnest Prayers for an Increase of these and all other Blessings to your Royal Highness, and that you may long live in Health and Prosperity, to see the happy Effects of your Influence and Example.

To which the Prince made this Answer.

My Lord, and Gentlemen,

I Return you my Thanks, and those of the Princess, for this new Instance of your Duty to the King, and Regard to Us. My Children will, I hope, deserve one Day that Love you now express for them, and it shall be my constant Care to instill such Sentiments into them, as are agreeable to the Liberties and Interests of their Country. The City may depend upon it, that I shall never forget the repeated Marks I have had of their Affection, and that they shall always have my good Wishes for their Welfare, and for the Increase of their Trade, and Prosperity.

After which they all had the Honour to kiss their Royal Highnesses Hands.

From his Royal Highness's Council Chamber at Somerset House, the 27th Day of January, 1740.

This Day his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales was pleased to appoint John Fortescue of Penwarne, in the County of Cornwall, Esq; to be Sheriff of the said County.

Berlin, Jan. 28, N. S. Orders are come from the King, for the Regiments of Chasenap, Prince Leopold, and Kalkenstein, Foot, and the Gens d'Armes, to be in Readiness to march on the 12th of next Month. Advice being come that the Prussian Ministers have left the Court of Vienna, the Imperial Minister here, M. Demeradt, proposes also to set out in a few Days on his Return to that Court.

Berlin, Jan. 31, N. S. Our last Accounts from the Army in Silesia, are, That his Prussian Majesty having ordered his Troops to cross the River Neiss, General Brown, with about 2000 Men, attempted to dispute the Passage, and in this Dispute several Men were killed on both Sides; the Prussians lost about 70 Men killed or wounded, and the Austrians 13. General Brown however was at last obliged to retire, and the Prussians came before the Town of Neiss, where they made Dispositions as if they intended to give a general Assault; but the Garrison having made a very brisk Fire with their Cannon and Small Arms, by which several of the Prussians were killed, his Prussian Majesty thought proper to do by that Town as he had done by Glogow, which is to block it up; after which his Prussian Majesty left the Command of the Army in Silesia to Felt-Marshal Count Schwerin, and set out on the 24th Instant on his Return to this Place, where he arrived on Sunday the 29th at Noon, accompanied by Prince William his Brother, and several Officers of Distinction.
